Translation - This number allows you to speak to a fluent English speaker that will then transfer your request or question to a Chinese speaker. This is a great service for getting directions, ordering food, etc.

Addresses - This number is very useful when you need to get the Chinese address of a location. Simply text this number with the name of the place you want to go, and if there is more than one located around you, they will ask you which one you're referring to. You text back specifying which one you want and they text you the Chinese address. So useful for when you want to take a taxi somewhere as most taxi drivers don't speak any English!

Railway station - Use this number to book tickets and make reservations for the Shanghai Railway Station.

Taxi service - Use this number to book a taxi in Shanghai. You may need to use a different service if you have more than 3 companions.

Ctrip - Plan your China trip with Ctrip, China's leading online travel agency.
